Godfrey Pembroke Names Its 'Consultant Of The Year'

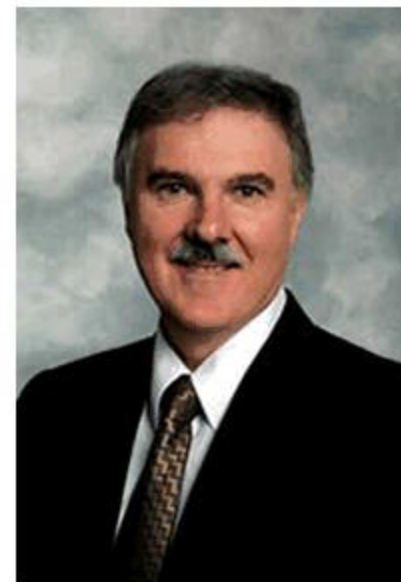

Peter Wilson named GPL consultant of the year 2009

Melbourne-based financial adviser Peter Wilson has been selected as Godfrey Pembroke's 2009 'Consultant of the Year'.

The award recognises an individual consultant who is deemed to have made a significant contribution to the financial advice group.

"Since joining us in 2002, Peter has had a distinguished career with Godfrey Pembroke," said Tom Reddacliff, Managing Director Godfrey Pembroke. "His utmost dedication to professional excellence, expertise and integrity has meant Peter is always at the cutting edge of innovation and business practices in financial planning and providing a highly sought after advice and service to his clients."

Peter joined Godfrey Pembroke after 20 years working for an international company in a variety of senior roles including business planning, trading, general management, sales and marketing. Six of those years were spent living and working as an expatriate in Asia and the USA with a multinational company.

This experience has enabled Peter to provide expert expatriate financial advice having insights that can only be gained through living and working overseas.

Peter also specialises in self-managed superannuation funds, family trusts and contingency management (risk and estate planning). Peter is therefore able to provide expert advice on investment structures for clients working both within and outside Australia.

Peter's expertise and advice are highly valued by his clients who are facing often complex issues in their personal and professional lives:

As a current client of Peters' states, "Whenever I look back at the situation we were in when Godfrey Pembroke first came on board as our financial planner, I am always amazed at how complicated our situation was and how they went about simplifying it for us. ... It was difficult for us to keep everything in perspective, but the in-depth analysis and detailed solutions provided by Godfrey Pembroke gave us confidence. They provided a high, low and most probable set of potential outcomes so that we could better understand our risks and rewards, and every recommendation was backed up with high quality and detailed analysis."

Peter is a Certified Financial Planner (CFP ®) and has also achieved 'Quality Adviser' status under the Godfrey Pembroke framework.
